

The ineluctable requirement for the trans-iron elements molybdenum and/or tungsten in the origin of life

Barbara Schoepp-Cothenet¹, Robert van Lis¹, Pascal Philippot³, Axel Magalon², Michael J. Russell⁴ and Wolfgang Nitschke^{1*}

¹Laboratoire de Bioénergétique et Ingénierie des Protéines (BIP) & ²Laboratoire de Chimie Bactérienne (LCB), CNRS, Univ. Aix/Marseille, Marseille/France; ³Institut de la Physique du Globe de Paris (IPGP), Paris/France; ⁴JPL/NASA, Pasadena/Cal

Figure: Structural overlay of the catalytic Molybdenum subunits from all CISM-enzymes dealt with in this work and for which a 3D structure is available. The pdb-file used to generate this figure and specifying the color code is available as Supplementary Information.